Assuming Our Responsibilities

We are all proud to boast of the great privilege of American citizenship and even some boast over the K. K. K. 100 per cent, but statistics show that many do not go to the trouble to register, and many more who register do not go to the polls to vote. Yet one finds that this class are the ones most critical of the administration of affairs from the nation to the city. We are now in the preliminary bouts of the great national election, and with that of the presidency, is that of the U. S. Senate and Congress as well as many state offices including the governorship, and nearly a full roster of county officers. Hence it behooves every citizen to get out and vote, and exercise their franchise. We are great believers in the faith of the whole people, and if a vote is complete, there can be few mistakes in the chosen representatives.

Another duty we shirk is that of jury service, and the excuses offered to the court to escape this duty are in most cases untruthful and criminal. In the civil courts we would all like to have our cases tried by an intelligent, honest jury, yet we will not serve to give other litigants the same rights. In criminal cases, we need men and women with backbone and not afraid to convict if they believe the prisoner guilty, and with equal courage to acquit a prisoner if we believe him innocent, no matter what may be the outside influence. It is the only way to put a curb on crime, and no matter how proficient the police and authorities may be, if they are not backed up by good juries the prisoners and criminals are turned loose to again prey upon the public. Every good citizen will vote at the elections and will also serve on a jury when called, even though it may mean some personal or even financial sacrifice.

Are We a Selfish People?

The American people as a rule are always in a hurry, and a charitable view would be that they are thoughtless rather than deliberately selfish. This is demonstrated in the smaller things of life, for instance the person who always takes the end seat and compels others to crawl over them; the person who takes whichever side of the walk or the center of it as they prefer instead of taking the right side and permitting others some right of way; the person who "butts in" while others are in conversation, or when being waited upon at a store; the groups of three or more who insist upon walking abreast and crowding others off the walk, and so we might go on naming many more breaches of common courtesies that could well be avoided. In the larger and more important affairs of life such people are likely to have just as little consideration for the rights of others. They wait until some one else prepares a convenience and then calmly avail themselves of it without even a "thank you" for the pioneer who has created the convenience. There are no rights for others, only an exaggerated consideration of "I" always in upper case, black face letters. The only apology ever offered is "I am busy" or "That's business" and the other party's being busy or in business never occurs to them. It is these little things in life that aggravate one, and makes this good old world a less pleasant place to live in. With them life is one great bargain counter, and they want to get there first, or like the swine get both feet in the trough, no matter what may be the rights of others. Just a small amount of courtesy and decent consideration for the rights of others makes the journey of life a much more pleasant one, and helps wonderfully in winning the respect of our neighbors.

Attention Board of Health

The subways under the railroads on 63rd st. and on State st. from 63rd south are a menace to the health of the community. The dirt and accumulated filth of a year has rotted and gives forth an odor that the palmiest days of "Bubbly Creek" at the Stock Yards could not equal. It has become a necessity to have these places cleaned and if the railroad companies will not assume the duty, the board of health should.

It Doesn't Matter

The things that often mean so much in life mean little afterwards. Social and financial standing, religion and occupation, mean but little or nothing to us when we are called upon; our duty is to serve, regardless.

This high responsibility we accept with a feeling of serious determination to render the best service we can; we forget the things that were, and remember only the things that make for better service.

Our Weekly Poem

THE OLD HOMEFOLKS

Somehow a feller's allus best contented when he's where
He's knowed th' folks sence childhood—when life wuz free from care.
An' no matter where he goes to or what a feller does,
His heart is often back there in th' times that uster wuz.
So, when I get t' dreamin' as th' most of fellers do,
'Tis there I ever wander, to the old homefolks—do you?
There wuz somethin' 'bout their manners 'at seemed t' take a hold
Of a feller's heart an' make him feel most welcome in th' fold.
An' when disaster struck us as it sometimes uster do—
Like when th' doctor couldn't make our baby girl pull through—
Th' grief wuz almost pleasant when those old-time friends came in
An' braced us up until we tuk a grip on life agin.
I 'member when our neighbors left an' went t' strike it rich,
An' in a year come home without a dollar or a stitch
Of anything t' wear, except th' clothes upon their back,
An' grieved an' said th' world, fer them, wuz lookin' mighty black;
Ev'ry one pitched in an' helped t' get 'em goin' right,
An' made 'em think that after all, th' world wuz purty bright.
An' so when I am sittin' in the mellow eventide,
With my children playin' round me; an' their mother at my side;
My thoughts oft journey backward to th' old friends way back there,
Where birds were ever singin', an' th' skies were ever fair;
Where our hearts were allus truthful an' words rung sweet and true—
I'm happy when I'm back there, with the old homefolks—are you?

Easter, "The Sunday of Joy"

Easter is one of the greatest festivals of the Christian church. Easter does not always fall on the same date, and it is interesting to know just how the time is calculated. The Church council in Nicea about the date (325 a. d.) decided that Easter should be celebrated the first Sunday after the first full moon after the vernal equinox (March 21). But the calculation is rather complicated, and we are content to take it from those who make up our calendar. Easter is a climax of special days of observance instituted by the early Christian church.

Easter is the end of the Lenten season, which means forty days of fast. We commemorate during this time on Palm Sunday the triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem. The Monday following opens Passion week in which is commemorated Christ's last supper with His apostles, and on Good Friday is commemorated the crucifixion.

On this joyous Sunday of Easter, the churches are beautifully decorated with lilies and palms, echoing with music and our hearts are throbbing with new hope in the Risen Christ. It is interesting to know where the name Easter originated. It comes from the Anglo-Saxon Eostre, a goddess of light or spring whose festival was celebrated in April. In the Greek, French, and Italian languages the name is taken from the Hebrew pesach meaning passover, being a continuation of the feast of the Passover at which the paschal lamb was sacrificed.

Many customs are observed in the home as well. The sending of Easter eggs is a custom thought to have originated with the Persions. The eggs are symbols of new life. Coloring them red symbolizes the redemption; other colors have no significance. An old legend relates that colored eggs are the gift of the rabbit on Easter eve.

Life is slowly bursting forth again in the woods, in our gardens and parks. The birds return to sing their season greetings. All rejoice in singing praises to the Risen King.

Some of the early customs in Germany and France were very quaint and are not practiced now. In the French cathedrals a sacred game of ball would be played by the bishops, canons and other dignitaries of the church; in Greece games and dances were enjoyed in which even the clergy joined reciting funny stories and legends exciting laughter among their audience. All these observances had a purpose, the expression of joy in the resurrection.

For the benefit of our readers we are glad to announce that we have more material on the subject of Easter, together with beautiful collections of verses and religious poems that may be used at this glorious Easter tide.

To Celebrate Paul Revere's Ride

The Paul Revere branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom will celebrate the 149th anniversary of the ride of that famous patriot Easter Sunday evening, April 20, 1924, in the Crystal room of the Great Northern hotel, Dearborn and Jackson sts.

The Paul Reveres make a specialty of celebrating American and Irish patriotic events. The anniversary of Paul Revere's ride, made famous by Longfellow's poem, falls on the 18th of April, "On the 18th of April in '75, hardly a man is now alive who remembers that famous day and year." But since Good Friday this year, also falls on the 18th of April, it was decided to hold the celebration in the Sunday following which will be next Easter Sunday. Cards will be played, besides songs, speeches and patriotic music. All are welcome.

This appearance is with the evening service, under the direction of the Men's association of the church, at which time, Dr. Frederick F. Shannon of the Central church will speak.

This is an opportunity for Mr. McGranahan's friends to hear him as he leaves within a few days thereafter for New York and will not be here again for some time.

Pure Patriotism of the American Legion

In view of the increasing propaganda of the Pacifist and Seditious Organizations, Englewood Post No. 61 of the American Legion, as a Patriotic Organization, deems it advisable to go on record as opposing and ready to combat any disloyal activities in this section of the city.

Below is a copy of a resolution passed at their regular meeting Friday, April 4, 1924:

WHEREAS, A few thoughtless students at an accredited institution of learning north of Chicago, augmented by a handful of churchmen, professional slackers and other pro-pacifists, have endeavored to echo a sentiment aimed at the fundamental cornerstone on which our country was founded by the Pilgrim Fathers and has hitherto proven storm-proof against all the anti-American propaganda that has been launched against it; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, That Englewood Post No. 61, The American Legion, Department of Illinois, in regular session convened, does go on record, without respect of persons, as condemning, repudiating and publicly denouncing through the medium of the public press, and all other American channels, all groups and individuals who give vent to such damnable and Leninistic propaganda and heresy in the name, and under the cloak of, organized religion and other schoolboy camouflage; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That if in the fair confines of Englewood, there should by any freak of fate, reside individuals who subscribe to such unsound morals and doctrines, that, upon receipt of information from authoritative sources, this American Legion Post will utilize the entire strength of its membership, with all its powers, moral and physical, in placing such individual or individuals, within the confines of the proper institution maintained for the salvaging of such moral lepers and latter-day Benedict Arnolds; therefore

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That, in the name of our honored comrade dead, their mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts, in the name of the Stars and Stripes and the country of Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt and Nathan Hale, and in the name of the ex-army of the United States in all wars, and in the name of the wounds and afflictions we proudly bear in our own bodies, we deplore the fact that Jane Addams should misrepresent American womanhood and take advantage of her sex, her religion and her position, to foster and disseminate propaganda which besmirches and befouls the high ideals taught to us by the mothers of our race; therefore

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That we do hereby call the attention of all young American womanhood to the fact that these so-called "Won't Fighters" are not prepared to discharge the first duty of manhood, the defence of the lives and honor of womankind; therefore

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That this post does hereby go on record as being in hearty accord with the editorial written by the Rev. R. Keene Ryan and published in "Yesterday and Today" column of the Englewood Chronicle under date of April 3, and extend to the said Rev. R. Keene Ryan our hearty support and commendation for his stand for the principles that our fathers fought, bled and died for. AND IN CONCLUSION allow us to ask these pacifists, so newly hatched,

What do you know of war and its madness,
Who never marched in the host
Of those who gave all that they had to give,
Who faced the toil and the pain with gladness,
And made it their only boast,
That Freedom to the end should live?

What do you know of war's grim story
Who never faced its doom;
But mock the hopes and the faith despise
Of those who passed in a blaze of glory
To the eternity of the tomb,
With Christ's own love in their eyes?

Signed
Walter M. Troesch, Chairman,
C. R. Edrington,
Fred Elzinga,
Committee.

Brown invariably came home late Saturday night very much lit up. The wife's method of coping with the situation was a broomstick and violent abuse. A soft-hearted friend suggested to her that kindness might work where violence did not. The following Saturday Mrs. Brown met her erring spouse with, "You are late, dear. But I have supper waiting. Come in and make yourself comfortable." Brown reeled in, winking significantly. "Go as far as you like, dearie," he mumbled. "I'll get hell when I get home, anyway."

SEVEN HUNDRED THOUSAND TELEPHONES IN CHICAGO

Mayor Dever Congratulates President Abbott of Illinois Bell—Growth in the Service First Slow Then Very Rapid

CHICAGO'S TELEPHONE PROGRESS

October, 1905	100,000 telephones
October, 1909	200,000 telephones
November, 1912	300,000 telephones
September, 1915	400,000 telephones
July, 1918	500,000 telephones
November, 1921	600,000 telephones
February, 1924	700,000 telephones

Chicago now has in operation 700,000 telephones.

The Illinois Bell Telephone Company has just installed the seven hundred thousandth instrument. It was placed in the office of W. R. Abbott, president of the company.

Mr. Abbott's first use of the instrument was to call Mayor Dever and advise him of the company's achievement. The Mayor congratulated the company on its growth.

A gold plate on the telephone stated that in addition to its being the seven hundred thousandth installation in Chicago, it marked Mr. Abbott's second anniversary as president of the company. Mr. Abbott has been in the Bell Telephone System thirty-five years this month, of which thirty-two years have been with the Illinois company.

Talks to the Mayor

Most of the company's official staff was on hand in Mr. Abbott's office when he talked to Mayor Dever. Mr. Abbott said:

"Chicago now has 700,000 telephones in operation. A few minutes ago the Illinois Bell Telephone Company installed the telephone from which this message is sent. It marks an important chapter in the history of the growth of the city and the company, as now there is in Chicago a telephone for every four of the city's population.

"Chicago and the telephone have developed together. While the city's physical expansion has been remarkable, its rise in importance has been more so. From a prairie village, incorporated a city eighty-seven years ago, it has grown in size and influence to its to-day's worthy position in the affairs of the nation and the world.

"It took a period of twenty-seven years, from 1878 to 1905, to have 100,000 telephones in use in Chicago. In the nineteen years from 1905 to 1924, 600,000 have been added."

Mayor Congratulates Company

Mayor Dever replied: "I want to take this opportunity to congratulate the Illinois Bell Telephone Company upon its great achievement—the installation of the seven hundred thousandth telephone in the City of Chicago.

"The enterprise and energy of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company has contributed greatly to the progress and prosperity of Chicago. Your Company has kept pace with our remarkable growth and has furnished the City with a service that is necessary to our municipal progress."

Figures Show Growth

Mr. Abbott gave the following table to show Chicago's telephone progress: October, 1905, 100,000 telephones; October, 1909, 200,000 telephones; November, 1912, 300,000 telephones; September, 1915, 400,000 telephones; July, 1918, 500,000 telephones; November, 1921, 600,000 telephones; February, 1924, 700,000 telephones.

B. E. Sunny, now chairman of the company's board of directors, supervised the installation of Chicago's first telephones. This was in 1877, when four instruments were placed in service as an experiment. The next year there were 400 in commercial use in the city.

WAR ON PREDATORY ANIMALS

Organized Drives Against Enemies of Stockmen Yielded Good Results in the Past Year.

During the past year an average of 206 hunters, trappers and poisoners was employed under the supervision of the biological survey, United States Department of Agriculture, and many thousands of stockmen participated in the distribution of poisoned baits during the organized drives against predatory animals. Part of the men employed were paid by the federal government and part by the states and other co-operating agencies, which contributed $196,405 to the work. Hunters are required to turn in as evidence the skins or scalps of animals killed when found in suitable condition. Such positive evidence was obtained during the year in the case of 30,986 predatory animals, of which 687 were large gray wolves, 27,185 coyotes, 2,827 bobcats and Canada lynxes, 173 mountain lions, and 114 bears. Bears are generally regarded as game animals and are protected by some state laws. No effort is made to take any except individuals known to be destructive to stock. In addition to the dead animals secured, it is estimated that not less than 50,000 coyotes were killed in connection with extended poisoning operations, but their carcasses were not found.

The killing of about 80,000 predatory animals represents a saving of live stock and game for the year amounting to over $4,000,000. Skins sold during this period yielded $34,202.75, of which $22,375 was derived from skins taken during the same year.

Atlantic Yellowstone Pacific Highway Association Formed

To promote the construction of a new east and west route to be known as the Atlantic Yellowstone Pacific highway is the object of a recently incorporated association of that name.

The association sets forth that there are two transcontinental roads through Chicago, west. The more northern is the Yellowstone Trail, extending from Chicago to Milwaukee, through the Twin Cities and northwest to Seattle. The other is the Lincoln highway, extending from Chicago southwest to Omaha, through Cheyenne and on to San Francisco and Los Angeles. Where these cross the Missouri river they are over four hundred miles apart. This leaves ample room for another such highway.

According to its advocates, the new route will have several distinct advantages over either of the others:

First—It traverses a section whose physical characteristics are more pleasing and inviting.

Second—It will be cooler and not so dusty as the others.

Third—It will permit earlier spring travel and later fall travel than the others.

Fourth—It will show a greater variety of agriculture and industries than either of the others named.

The selecting of the route, and the marking, with certain advertising, is to be accomplished early this summer from Sioux Falls to the Mississippi river and probably to Chicago.

The route will extend from the Atlantic through Chicago, the great trade center of the continent; through Sioux Falls, whose public-spirited citizens are financing its beginning; to the Black Hills, the outstanding resort east of the Rockies; by Yellowstone Park, the nation's greatest playground, to the Pacific.

Maintenance and National Service

NATURE is both the ally and enemy of the telephone. One of her forces, electricity, carries the voice of man afar. Others, as flood, tornado or sleet storm, can cripple communications in a large area through their devastating might.

Each pair of telephone wires in the Bell System is a pathway for reciprocal speech. When beaten down by the uncontrollable forces of nature, that pathway to fifteen million telephones is blocked, and none of the nation's voices can pass that way.

Reserve materials must be on hand, that storm damage may be repaired without delay. Adequate funds must be made available so that the cost of restoration may be met.

National telephone service is only possible through an organization capable of handling, on a nation-wide basis, the problem of maintenance as well as of operation.

Death of Captain James H. Flynn

One of the oldest lake captains in Chicago passed away at his home, 6917 Bishop st., Monday, in the person of James H. Flynn, and his funeral occurred Wednesday from St. Brendan's church, burial being at Mount Olivet.

Captain Flynn was born in Essex county, New York, in 1836, was 85 years of age, and became a sailor in the days of real sailboats very early in his life. At the outbreak of the war of the rebellion he volunteered in the famous Iron Brigade of Wisconsin, and was afterwards put in command of a vessel in the U. S. Navy, serving under Admiral Farragut. He was a member of Meade Post No. 444, G. A. R., the remaining members of whom attended his funeral in a body. He had lived in the Englewood district for the past thirty-five years, and won the reputation of being an honorable, upright citizen and a good man. He was married sixty years ago to Mary Lahey, the beloved wife he leaves with his family of thirteen, the following surviving: Mrs. Ida Gray, Walter and William, Mrs. Mamie Kahlenberg, Harry, Adrian C., and Mrs. Anna Scherzer. Captain George F. Flynn of the Times staff is a younger brother. Captain Flynn made a distinguished record as a gunner in the navy, and after the war was given command of the barque "Amelia," and the last vessel he sailed was his own property, the "Tempest," which was nearly thirty years ago. A large circle of friends and relatives paid their respects to his memory, and extend condolences to the veteran sailor man.

The Men's Association

As originally planned, the series of special Sunday evening services at the Englewood Presbyterian church are to close with Easter night. They have been held under the auspices of the Men's association of the church and they represent the contribution of this church to the community of Englewood. The purpose has been to give to the people a helpful and inspiring service and at the same time to add that breadth of interest which comes from hearing a different speaker each evening.

Next Sunday night, March 13, Dr. Frederick F. Shannon of Central church is to speak on the subject, "The Wonderlands of Life." Dr. Shannon came to Chicago three years ago to fill the pulpit made vacant by the death of Dr. Frank Gunsaulas. He soon found that he was ministering to people from all parts of the city. It is said that the average distance which the members of his church travel in reaching Orchestra hall, where Dr. Shannon preaches every Sunday morning, is seven miles. Lately he has annexed the whole Mississippi valley to his congregation. Thousands hear him by radio, and are uplifted and charmed by the beauty and deep spiritual content of his sermons. This will give the people of Englewood an opportunity to hear Dr. Shannon at his best. If the Men's association of the First Presbyterian church had done nothing more during the year than to bring this gifted divine to their pulpit it would have rendered a valuable service to the community. The service begins at 7:30 p. m. The church is at the corner of Yale ave. and 64th st. All will be made welcome.

What Is a Nixie?

In an effort to center the attention of the mailing public upon the extraordinary and easily preventable waste in the Chicago Post Office due to the carelessness or lack of information on the part of its patrons, Postmaster Lueder placarded all of the mail trucks with the question "What is a Nixie?" The value of the placard depended, of course, upon the curiosity it aroused, and it aroused plenty, according to post office officials.

A nixie may be anything from a wedding invitation gone astray to an automobile tire or a suit case full of clothes. The difference between a nixie and a dead letter is that a nixie may, after special treatment, be returned, but a dead letter can neither be returned nor delivered. In the store rooms of the post office may be found every conceivable mailable article of merchandise; auction sales are held four times a year to make room for more. For the last sale it required a book of seventeen solidly printed pages, with a single line sometimes representing more than a hundred articles of the same kind, to describe the articles that were lost during the three months' period, which did not include the Christmas season. This book referred to lost merchandise only and had no reference to the vast volume of first class, newspaper and circular matter, which is delayed or not delivered because of the common, preventable errors of the mailing public.

The patrons of the post office can do a great deal to improve the service to themselves by the exercise of the same care in the preparation and disposition of their mail that they give to other important items of their business.

Feuer's Magnificent Restaurant Pride of All Chicago Seats 250 People

The most magnificent restaurant ever built on the great south side and the pride of the entire city—these words describe Feuer's restaurant, located at 6372 Cottage Grove ave., just south of the new Washington Park National Bank building and across from the Tivoli theater.

Starting a little over two years ago with a seating capacity of 72, Feuer's restaurant patronage increased by leaps and bounds so that Harry Feuer, who has personal supervision over the place, was absolutely compelled to greatly enlarge his establishment. This has now been done at an additional expenditure of $100,000 and represents a degree of magnificence never surpassed heretofore.

The beautiful new blue and gray room, artistically conceived and with the finest appointments, represents a splendid piece of workmanship. Nothing has been spared to make this the acme of beauty and it's a rare privilege to visit this place.

We wish particularly to emphasize the fact that at Feuer's you can visit, without obligating yourselves in the least, the finest rest rooms to be found anywhere. There are rest rooms for both ladies and gentlemen and Mr. Feuer extends a cordial welcome to the public to visit these rest rooms at any time.

Feuer's serves the most wonderful quality of food, including the finest golden waffles, luscious steaks, delicious coffee, etc., in fact every conceivable type of best quality foods that the appetite craves and due to the great volume of business and the large seating capacity the prices are very reasonable indeed. There is no orchestra to disturb the patron and the quiet and refined surroundings have a charm that is irresistible. The service too, is unexcelled and the uniform courtesy extended to all wins the good will of a host of people.

The people love Harry Feuer. He is courteous and considerate of all; he is a gentleman and captivates his friends and wins the hearts of all with whom he comes in contact. Personally beloved as he is and deserving all the good will that is extended to him—he is, without question, the most popular restaurant man in Chicago. In his mind and heart he had visioned a beautiful, a magnificent restaurant, absolutely incomparable in every respect, which would serve all the people and enable him to do so at truly popular prices and serve the people for many miles around. Mr. Feuer has wonderfully succeeded in these matters and is to be warmly congratulated.

Mrs. Richard J. Smith and family of Gary, Ind., were guests at the home of her sister, Mrs. Chas. E. Modine, the occasion being Mrs. Modine's birthday party, last Saturday.

A Snow Storm in the Yosemite

Beauties of San Francisco and Northern California, Chinatown, The Presedio and Home

When we came to California it was with the intention of seeing all they had to show and we have no complaint that they have not given us full value for our money. We first ran into a sand storm on the Mojave desert and a few weeks later we were in the mountains above Santa Barbara while the forest fires were raging and while at Los Angeles they had a cloud burst over in Glendale and we were in it. As a farewell evidence of good faith we ran into a heavy snow storm up in the Yosemite Valley. None of those gentle little affairs of a foot or two, but a real wholesale bargain storm where there is an accumulation of from twenty to fifty feet in the canyons. As I write this in our electrically heated rooms we can see the snow still falling and Sentinel Rock looms up in ghostly grandeur just ahead. The beautiful waterfalls looks black against its background of snow, and the tall pines and sequina trees are immense pillars of pure white, and the entire picture is one of majestic beauty. While it is a bit expensive to be snow bound in this high priced, if not high classed mountain hostelry, it is well worth the experience and the whole force of guides are entertaining us with interesting stories of the country. Most of these men are natives of the valley and the drivers of the busses are college boys, stalwart and husky, and full of life and jollity. Nearly every state in the Union is represented and we met yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Moore of Yale ave., Hamilton Park, who went out on their way to Los Angeles and the southern trip to New Orleans.

I promised in my last letter to make further mention of the Yosemite and I hope my readers will agree with me that it deserves them, as a region replete with majestic domes, titanic chasms, alluring water falls, and three forests of the oldest trees and tallest trees in the world. The Yosemite has been known to the white man but for a little more than fifty years, and it was only in 1851 that a body of U. S. troops in pursuit of marauding Indians first gave it attention. While the Yosemite National Park covers an area of 36 by 48 miles, the valley itself is but seven miles long and a scant mile or less wide, yet within its confines is more beautiful and awe inspiring scenery than any place else on God's green earth. The Yosemite falls plunges down 2,600 feet, 1,600 in the first fall, cascades 600 feet, and a final drop of 400 feet. The Merced river winds prettily through the meadows of the valley and is lined with beautiful flowers and foliage in many colors. This valley is 4,000 feet above sea level yet the El Capitan which stands guard at its entrance rises apparently perpendicularly 3,300 feet, displaying a surface of granite of over 400 acres. Glacier Point has a drop of 3,250 feet and Half Dome rises 4,892 feet. With these are many others—Cathedral Spires, Three Brothers and Cloud Rest might be mentioned. There are also a number of pretty lakes. Mirror Lake the most famous, whose clear waters reflect a mile of grandeur. Then there are three groves of giant trees, the Mariposa, Merced and Tuolumne. The tallest tree, named for that great lover of the seirras, Mark Twain, is 331 feet high, while the Grizzly Giant and Washington trees are nearly thirty feet at their base and their ages are estimated at over 3,000 years. The valley lies near the crest of the Sierra Nevada range whose altitudes range from 10,000 feet to that of Mount Whitney at 14,501 feet, the highest peak in the United States, and from its topmost peak may be seen Old Glory waving the grand emblem of the greatest and best nation in the world. The Tioga Pass route is the best and gives one an opportunity of seeing a sunrise on the beautiful Mirror Lake, and the moonlight drives are entrancing, with the silvery flood of the moon on the granite cliffs.

The northern part of California is in many ways as attractive as the fertile southern part. Going north from Bakersfield on the island route we detour to the Yosemite Valley at Merced. After a week in that wonderful picturesque place we return to Merced and go on through Stockton to Sacramento, the capital city of California. Just a few miles from here you run into the romance of the "The day of old, the days of gold, the days of '49." It is only a six-hour drive to Coloma where gold was discovered by James W. Marshall on January 24, 1848, just 200 yards from Sutter's mill. All the world rushed to the new gold fields. Towns sprung up in every locality, the gold hysteria knew no bounds, no law, no restraint in those first days, and the names of the towns were rather forceful and descriptive; among them I might name Whiskey Diggings, Port Wine, Slug Gulch, You Bet, Wild Yankee Diggings and Even a Hangtown now known as Placerville. One may see the notorious old tree where at first men were hung singly, but after the Vigilantes took hold they hung them in groups and batches. To the right of the old tree may be seen the old blacksmith shop where the famed Studebaker first began his career. There are many gold mines in operation in the Sacramento district now, and it is claimed the most profitable in the world. There is a great amount of farming especially in vegetables. The value of the farm products of Sacramento Valley reach over 110,000 annually, and there is an endless variety of crops, almonds, pears, cling peaches, hops, Tokay grapes, oranges, raisins, prunes and all sorts of tropical fruits as well as hay, rice, olives and grazing. The scenery is beautiful all through the valley and the mountains.

We came down through the valley to Oakland and of course crossed over to San Francisco. Here is the wonderful San Francisco Bay, which joins that of San Pablo where the great Mare Island U. S. Navy yards are located. We had the pleasure of a sail out through the Golden Gate into the Pacific passing Point Bonita around to the famed Seal Rocks. Mount Tampalpais is a resort everyone visits, Muir Woods with its big trees, the most accessible grove in the state, are glorious, especially when one thinks of their great age. They tower from 200 to 300 feet. They may be reached by a mountain train from Mount Tamalpais, the Muir Wood nestles in a long wide canyon between the mountain and the sea and the trip is but a day's journey.

The Mission Dolores was founded here in 1776 at the time our forefathers were sending Great Britain that fine little document, whose birth we celebrate each 4th of July, and it is in use now. The other attractions for tourists are the Twin Peaks, and its tunnel, Buena Vista Park, Ocean Beach and Cliff House, the Presidio, which housed the old Spanish garrison, Golden Gate Park, Del Monte and, of course, Chinatown, which, while more extensive, is much the same as that at Archer ave. from 22nd st. west.

It was in 1769 that Don Gasper de Portola, governor of Lower California, discovered San Francisco when, with sixty-five persons he left San Diego on an overland trip to locate Monterey Bay, which was discovered in 1603 by the Spanish explorer Sebastian Vizcaino. Failing to find Monterey in the latitude mapped by the explorer, they proceeded north and on October 31, 1769 they discovered the Golden Gate, and an immense body of water extending to the interior. This is now known as Presidio reservation. cisco, the greatest of all natural harbors. The first permanent settlement by white men was made in June 1776 and a garrison and military post was established at what is now known as Presdio reservation. The Mission Dolores was founded in October following and still stands on Dolores Street near 16th. There were only fourteen houses with sixty inhabitants until the discovery of gold brought a rush of immigrants and its progress has been phenomenal. The climate is much the same as lower California, with no cold winters and seldom do they have light snows. The warm Japan current that sweeps the entire coast of California serves to temper the climate and it is ideal.

San Francisco is a city of peculiar attractions, not particularly beautiful in its architecture, the location is wonderful, picturesque, and with Chicago spirit back of it could be made the marvel city of the world. The bay, around which it is sprawled is the largest land locked harbor in the world. In it are a cumber of islands upon all of which Uncle Sam has placed batteries, many concealed and hidden, and with those on the surrounding shores on either side of the bay, make it impossible for any foe to enter as the Golden Gate, at its narrowest less than a mile wide, is fortified to a finish. The Presidio is on the site of the old Spanish fort and some of the ancient fortification walls remain. The Twin Peaks rising several thousand feet in height make a favorable "Lookout" as well as an aristocratic residence district. Chinatown as rebuilt is far from being the old network of narrow, filthy, dark streets and rat-runs it was before the earthquake. By the way, it is decidedly bad form to refer to that incident of destruction, as its memory is decidedly unpleasant, and may affect future progress. There are more Chinamen, Japanese and Koreans here than any town in the world outside of their own countries, and they play an important part in the commercial and financial field. They make it a point to have their children all attend the public or parochial schools in the day time and at night they attend one instructing them in their own language. It must have been an Irishman that laid out and named the streets as they have Kearney, Geary, O'Farrell, McGuire, Robert Emmet, and even a Sullivan street, which by the way is inhabited by Koreans, while "Turk" street is German. San Francisco is a large, beautiful, progressive and prosperous city, with less self assertiveness than Los Angeles, but will always be a metropolis and commercial center. There are many large substantial public buildings and the commercial center looks much like our "loop" district. The stores make a specialty of fine window displays and spend more on them than on the rest of the salesrooms. It is a good town to live in and make money they say, but here is one that prefers good old "Chi."

At the conclusion of our very interesting trip permit us to offer some suggestions to those who desire to tour this country. Carry with you only such clothing and equipment as you will actually need but include an overcoat and rain coat. Put up at the best hotels; while their prices may seem a bit high, it is money well spent as the accommodations are worth it, and in striking contrast to the mediocre and cheaper places. Engage your accommodations ahead if possible, especially if you want bath or other accommodations. Don't be a victim of the curio shops; they are robbers and most of their wares are fakes, many manufactured in Chicago a few blocks from where you live. A camera is invaluable but don't make a nuisance of yourself by forcing yourself into private places to "get a shot," or try to catch some celebrity who is adverse to being photographed. First of all make up your mind to enjoy yourself and put up with slight inconveniences. Be a sport, and join in with the bunch on reasonable projects. Above all don't try to be exclusive and impress your fellow tourists with your wonderful social or financial standing "at home"; such people are left beautifully alone and miss a great amount of enjoyment and fun. Don't "hog" the dressing room on the Pullmans or any other privilege to be shared with others. In short be a lady or gentleman, pay for what you get and see that you get what you pay for. Thank you.

Donald B. Sullivan

Old English Custom Revived.

An ancient custom of "rocking" the baby, in his church that had been allowed to lapse for a century, was revived by the vicar of Bildworth, England, at the Sunday evening service following Candlemas. The latest born baby boy of the parish was taken to the church by its parents and placed in an old wooden cradle, decorated with Candlemas flowers and with two candles on either side, that was dedicated by the vicar. Eight godfathers who "rocked" the cradle several times, inside the altar rails. The "rocking" is not a legend, but an important village ceremony that recalls Christ's presentation to the temple and calls Christian parents to offer their infants to Christ. The ceremony died out because Candlemas was a bad time to expose a baby, for February breezes touch infant cheeks very roughly.

Question of Relationship.

This conversation took place in a crowded elevator following a meeting recently of the Indianapolis Bar association.

Judge James M. Leathers remarked to William E. Jeffrey, an attorney, that he had confused his name with that of Frank M. W. Jeffery, another lawyer, for a case in court that day.

"You men are brothers, aren't you?" Judge Leathers asked.

"No, our names are not even spelled alike," Mr. Jeffrey replied.

"Nope, they are not brothers, they are just brothers-in-law," said Judge T. J. Moll, from his corner of the elevator.

Judge Has a Grievance.

A local circuit judge with an eager, quick-working mind has absolutely no patience with people who comment at length on the weather or discuss other trivialities.

"Suppose a man offered you something to eat, and then handed you some saw dust to put in your mouth," he said. "The food for thought that you get in a lot of people's conversation is just as worth chewing over or giving your attention to as sawdust."—Detroit News.

New Source of Electricity.

Electricity from brown coal is the bold undertaking now being put through by the government of Victoria. The scheme provides for the erection of a generating station on the coalfield with an initial capacity of 50,000 kilowatts, but capable of doubling. The estimated cost is about $12,000,000 for the initial development, and over $25,000,000 for the final project. The first section will include four 12,500-kilowatt turbo-alternators running at 3,000 revolutions per minute, with an 800-kilowatt set for starting up the bigger ones. The boilers and the steel for the buildings are actually under construction, and preliminary steps are being taken for the erection of the high-tension transmission line of 112 miles to a point near Melbourne. This line is to operate at 132,000 volts, and will consist of aluminum-steel reinforced cable strung on galvanized towers 1,000 feet apart.—Scientific American.

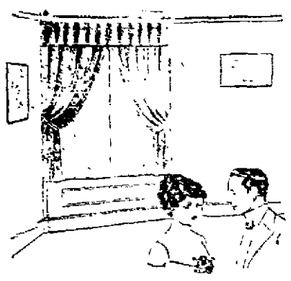
Two Helpful Discoveries.

Among the old things I've discovered, aside from those universally recognized, such as the supreme value of love and honor—two stand out in my view with special prominence, writes Henry Holt, "The Octogenarian Editor," in the Independent. The first is that no matter how much things hurt, and how bad they look, they generally turn out for the best. Not only does it seem plain that the universe would fall to pieces if they did not; but that as a matter of fact they do, is the testimony of my long experience. The second old discovery is that it's poor business to borrow trouble.

Describing Charity.

"Pa, what is charity?"

"Charity, my boy, is something which nobody likes to ask for, but everybody is glad to get. It is best when it is remembered by the receiver and forgotten by the giver. It shines brightest as a duty, and becomes dull and odious as a favor, later to be boasted of."



Handsome Draperies

are the crowning glory of a beautiful interior. It is surprising how tasteful hangings improve the looks of a room. We shall be glad to give you the benefit of our experience in this matter.

SULLIVAN'S SENSE AND NONSENSE

WHAT'S YOUR ANSWER?

There was a crooked man and he went a crooked mile
To sell some crooked hootch to those who hadn't any guile;
He met a crooked sleuth, who joined his crooked game,
And then the crooks together worked
—and who is most to blame?

Small was not so small after all.

Sometimes all the early bird gets is up.

It's hard to keep a good man quiet about it.

Having finished his campaign, will our alderman now have time to see that our streets are cleaned?

Didja notice that the handshake of the candidates is not so warm as they were the first of the week. Ans.—The primaries are over.

I can't stir up much enthusiasm for either Coolidge or McAdoo while the politicians are leaving our streets in such a filthy condition.

Now that the primaries are over the people may return to sanity for the few months intervening until election.

Funny, isn't it, that a merchant will keep his car parked all day in front of his store and block the way of prospective customers?

The man who is always "nearly working himself to death" rarely succumbs—he gets so much relaxation telling the world about it.

I want to thank my friends for the kindly reception they gave me upon my return from the Pacific Coast, also for the many cheap cigars they gave me. The Janitor says they are not so worse.

This thing of educating people to be teachers is a great thing. If you go through the Normal and a University or two, you may teach school at $50 a month, while the janitor of the same school gets $100.

The completion of the Oakhaven Old People's Home is a wonderful achievement, and many of us older chaps will be waiting for the time we may occupy a pleasant corner in the pretty home.

Mrs. Casey was inclined to be critical last evening and remarked grumpily, "Shure, wimin do be hovin' awl the trubbles in this world," at which Casey testily answered, "Excipt wan, they don't be hovin' woives."

"Charles, I found a blonde hair on your overcoat today," said the suspicious wife, and the sporty hubby answered, "That's one of your's, my dear," and he was completely comflubbergasted when she replied, "No, it is not. It is your last year's coat, and I wasn't a blonde then, you know."

The indignant man whom Officer Casey had warned about spitting on the sidewalk said he didn't want to be bothered about so trifling a matter, and casually remarked, "I don't stand on trifles." Giving his number 12's a look, Casey mildly muttered, "Shure Oi say youse don't."

"What are you reading, Charlie?" asked the lad's mother. "It's a book called 'Child Training' that I borrowed from Mrs. Jones," returned the young son. "Do you find it amusing?" laughed his mother. "I'm not reading it for that. I merely wanted to see if I had been brought up properly."

Opening and Dedication of Oakhaven Old People's Home

It seems especially fitting that with the gladness and spiritual promise of Eastertide should come the opening and dedication of Oakhaven Old People's home.

This community has worked for seven long years to build this beautiful and real home for its worthy old folks who have lived useful lives and yet who are now alone, or needy. How happy we are! What heartfelt thankfulness and praise to the Giver-of-all-good-gifts there will be on Easter afternoon when the Oakhaven board will keep open house for the contributors and members of the Auxiliaries and their husbands. There will be a delightful program and opening for the general public Easter week, of which special announcements will be given in next week's Englewood Times.

On Sunday, April 20th, at 3 p. m. a rare musical treat will be presented by Miss Kathryn Browne of the Chicago Civic Grand Opera Co. and by B. Fred Wise, the noted tenor. Both live on the south side and it is especially interesting to know that Miss Kathryn Browne is the only notive Chicagoan in our Grand Opera Co. She has won her place among the truly great in the musical world through sheer beauty of voice, outstanding artistry and that magnetic quality which means instantaneous success. Mr. B. Fred Wise has a tenor voice of exquisite tenderness and feeling and the genial personality which wins friends.

Miss Browne will sing over the WGN radio Friday, 7:50 p. m., when her sorority sisters, the Pi Beta Phis, will present the new painting of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge to the White House in Washington.

In next week's issue of the Englewood Times there will be lists of hostesses, chairmen of committees, and further details given of Oakhaven's interesting opening.

The rooms are airy, artistic and bright, the furnishings so colorful, well chosen and harmonious as to charm the eye.

The whole genial atmosphere of Oakhaven gives one a feeling of home, of peace and of loving thoughtfulness for the comfort of somebody's mother and someone's nice old dad.

MYRTLE DEAN CLARK.
Chairman Dedication of Oakhaven.

Why Mail Is Lost

The moving season is again with us. More than 600,000 changes of address were filed with the Chicago post office during the year just past, according to a statement issued by Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder, but there were many thousands who moved and did not file a change of address with the post office, with the result that many pieces of first-class mail and parcel post remained undelivered, and great quantities of circular matter and newspapers were destroyed. If you move, notify the post office.

Mrs. Modine Entertains

Mrs. Chas. E. Modine of 6512 Ross ave. was hostess to a large number of relatives and old time friends last Saturday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary. The table was very prettily decorated with all kinds of Easter novelties and spring flowers. The hostess served a very delicious supper at 6 o'clock. Bunco was played and prizes were awarded. It was a very pleasant and enjoyable occasion.

Lewis-Champlin P. T. A.

The regular meeting of the Lewis-Champlin Parent-Teacher association will be held in the assembly hall on Tuesday, April 15, at 2:30 o'clock.

The speaker will be Miss Dora Wells of the Lucy Flower Technical School for Girls. All are cordially invited to attend.

Englewood Woman's Club

Last Monday afternoon the Englewood Woman's club closed its brilliant series of programs for the year 1923-24 with the annual spring musicale. Mme. Edith Bideau Normelli, soprano, B. Fred Wise, tenor, and Mildred Brown, violinist, the artists of the afternoon were given a most cordial reception by an audience that filled the auditorium. The last number of the program, a duet from "Madame Butterfly," with violin obligato was beautifully rendered, and the encore, "Take Me Back to Old Virginny," a most happy memory. Preceding the program candidates for political office were given opportunity to speak.

Next Monday the club holds its annual meeting at which time the story of the activities of the club this past year will be told in the form of reports from the officers, chairmen, and delegates, and the election of officers for the ensuing year will be held. It should prove to be the most interesting meeting of the year. Polls open from 10:30 to 2:30 o'clock.

Results of Tuesday's Primaries

The largest vote ever cast at a primary was that of Tuesday. The results in brief were the renomination of Governor Len Small by 46,117 plurality by the Republicans. Former Governor Deneen was the Republican choice for U. S. Senator by a plurality of nearly 5,000. President Coolidge carried the state by 109,684. Congressman Elliott W. Sproul was renominated. Alderman John Lyle received a nomination for municipal judge, David Swanson and D. W. Miller were nominated for the state legislature. Robert Crowe was renominated as state's attorney and James E. Kearns for clerk of municipal court. The Democrats defeated the McAdoo slate and the old Roger Sullivan element under Robert Schweitzer carried everything before them. Jones was nominated for governor, Dr. Timmis for congress in this district and G. A. Fitzgerald and J. M. Lee for members of the state legislature. That's all until the November election then there may be some more surprises.

Greater Chicago Foreign War Veterans

Another grand bunco party will be given by Greater Chicago Post No. 866, V. F. W., on Tuesday evening, April 22, Carpenter's hall, 6414 S. Halsted st., in the brown room. There will be prizes for every table and a very valuable assorted list on hand. All who attend will be given a free chance on a $25.00 capitol prize. Our friends and public are especially invited to attend. The object is for the benefit of disabled veterans of Englewood. No tax, free wardrobe, plenty seats for all. Dancing will follow.

Englewood Community Center

The Englewood Community center will hold an open business meeting Sunday afternoon, April 13, at Normal hall, 69th and Halsted sts. Miss Frieda Golubock, chairman of the entertainment committee, has charge of the entertainment which will be offered besides the usual dancing.

Held Up Car at 63rd and Halsted Sts.

Thursday night three young bandits armed with bright blue automatic guns, held up the crew of a Kankakee electric car on the 63rd pl. siding and robbed it of the registered mail sack. It contained valuable packages, the exact amount unknown. The daring youths escaped in a Ford car before the police could be summoned.

Englewood Girls in Grand Opera

Miss Kathryn Browne, mezzo-soprano, is the only native Chicagoan in Grand Opera in this country. Miss Browne is also an Englewood girl and will sing at the dedication of Oakhaven Old People's Home on Easter Sunday, April 20th. Miss Browne is a member of the Chicago Civic Opera Co. and is under the management of Clarence E. Cramer of 1102 Auditorium.

Her many Englewood friends will be glad to hear her, and congratulate her on her well deserved success in her chosen career.

The Jolly Club in Surprise

The Jolly Club of Englewood gave a very pleasant surprise party on Mrs. Chas. E. Modine of 6512 Ross ave. last Tuesday evening, April 1. Games and bunco were played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Agnes Mitchell, first; Miss Georgie Masterson, second; and Miss Catherine Masterson, third; and Miss Mary Masterson, booby prize. Games were won by Mrs. Harry Favor and Miss Mary Masterson.

A musical program was given by Miss Catherine Masterson and Mr. Wilfred C. Errant. The hostess Miss Vera Linquist served a dainty refreshment and the ladies presented Mrs. Modine with a very handsome gift. All had a very merry time.

Anthony Wayne A. A. R. I. R.

Anthony Wayne A. A. R. I. R. will meet Sunday, April 13, at 8 p. m. at Ogden Park assembly hall, 65th st. and Racine ave. Miss Marie Commerford, recently released from a hunger strike in Ireland, will be the speaker of the evening and give authentic information of the actual conditions in Ireland today.

South Park Ave. Should Be Boulevarded

The improvement organizations are making a good fight to have South Park ave. boulevarded and improved to 119th st. and the Englewood organizations should join in the good work. It will make a much needed southern outlet and relieve the congestion on Halsted, Western ave. and other streets, besides making a short cut to the Indiana drives. Emil Johnson, the husting "Upside down" clothier, is on the committee and is pushing the work in this vicinity.

Goodkind's Doll Hospital

Goodkind's Doll hospital, formerly located at 6201 S. Wentworth ave., and now at 1022 W. 63rd st., has the unique distinction of being the only such place on the south side. This place, starting on a very small scale, now carries a stock worth $5,000 and has grown by leaps and bounds. Doll repairing of all kinds is done and furthermore, a good supply of shoes, stockings, toys, dolls, etc., is always carried. Goodkind's Doll hospital is one of the most progressive concerns in Englewood.

Commercial Association Get Busy

Half a hundred of the live merchants on 63rd st. enjoyed the noon day luncheon Wednesday at Odd Fellow's temple, and it is evident President Penhallegon is putting the association on the proper track to secure actual benefits for our part of the city.

Chairman Sime Koehler made a satisfactory report upon the cleaning and lighting of the subways under the tracks at La Salle and State sts. and the usual promises are renewed to attend the matter, but really they have improved the lighting by adding several dozen lamps so one may better see the mud. George Dow got after the people who ride bicycles on the sidewalks and run into pedestrians. The police will arrest all offenders hereafter. Mr. Barkey is working on improving the lighting system.

Ernest Hart, the retiring treasurer, was presented with a beautiful fountain pen as a slight testimonial from the association. The meetings hereafter will be held in the hall in the rear of George B. Dow's store (next door to Berg's haberdashery), 338-42 63rd st. Mr. Dow will give the members a comfortable place to meet and the secretary and committee will have it furnished for the next meeting Wednesday, April 23.

Englewood Kiwanians 100 Per Cent

There was 100 per cent of the Kiwanis Club of Englewood that went to church Tuesday. Captains McDonnell of the "Reds" and Homer Sailor of the "Blues" were as lively as chickens on a hot griddle hustling in their members and all were present and several visitors. Dr. Wall led off in some very nice music composed by Sinclair Randall and the O'Leary children accompanied and gave a number of beautiful instrumental selections. The ensemble singing of the club was enthusiastic and Professor Armstrong led pleasantly in "School Days." The reports show that Englewood is tied in the attendance contest with Burlington, Iowa, and must go some to bring home the bacon. Charley Edrington yielded the gavel and President Tegtmeier made his usual few minutes speil. The feature of the day was the excellent address of Ralph E. Johnson of S. W. Strauss and company on "Modern Banking," which was accorded rapt attention and merited the applause at the finish.

Christian Science People Buy More Property

The Church of Christ, Scientist, at Harvard ave. and Marquette rd. have purchased the property immediately in the rear of their present temple on Marquette rd., the home of the A. W. McCornack family, with a view of extending their beautiful building sometime in the near future. It is a splendid property and will make a fine site for a church house.

Fur Storage Facilities

Last week we announced the removal of Phil Rappaport, the well known furrier from 412 W. 63rd st. to his new location at 335 W. 63rd st., after May 1. In addition to his larger location Mr. Rappaport has probably the best storage facilities for fine furs in all Englewood.

Those having furs to store during the summer will do well to see him.

The Cost of Good Vision Is Insignificant
The price that is paid for poor vision stands out in comparison, like a mountain peak against a flaming sunset. The difference between poor vision and good vision is the difference between discomfort and satisfaction; the difference between a hedged-in existence and enjoying life untrammelled; the difference between disappointment and pleasure; the difference between inefficiency and efficiency. Poor vision subtracts from the joys of life's good things and raises an insurmountable barrier between you and progress. The purpose of our service is to protect and conserve natural visual powers and to correct deficiencies with the aid of correct lenses.
